An innovative educational executive with a distinguished track record in education and foreign languages, specializing in designing scalable E-learning solutions and transformative educational frameworks that deliver measurable impact. With extensive experience in organizing international educational and cultural events, I excel at fostering cross-cultural collaboration and building strategic partnerships to expand educational opportunities. As a globally recognized lecturer on Holocaust awareness, modern-day antisemitism, and foreign languages, I have a talent for communicating complex and sensitive topics in an engaging and impactful manner. Bilingual in English and Hebrew, and fluent in French, I bring a global perspective shaped by studying and working across the US, Canada, France, and Israel. Dedicated to advancing institutional development, I leverage my expertise in international relations to promote diversity, inclusion, and global collaboration through innovative educational initiatives.
